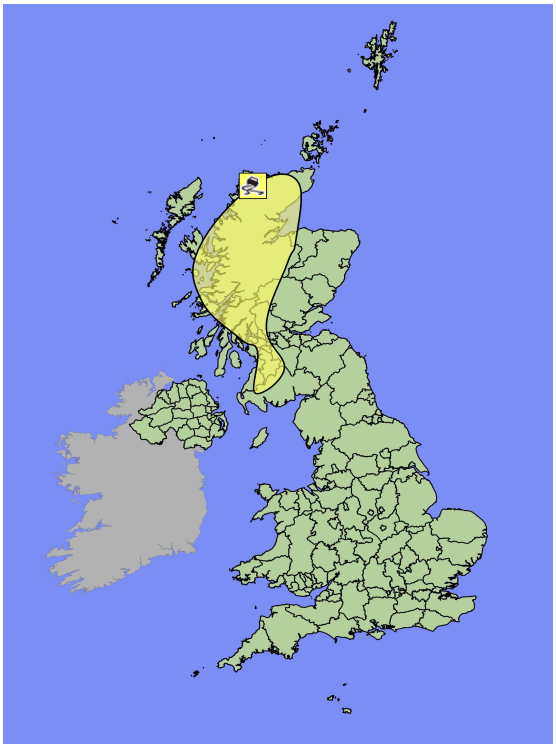
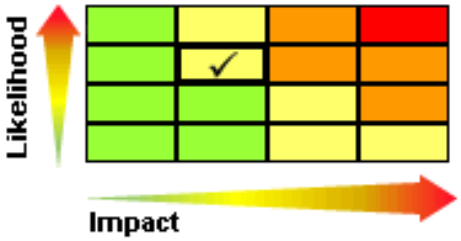
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
A fairly typical cold showery winter's night to come, but with that awkward mix of rain and snow which could lead to an enhanced risk of icy conditions in places.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Ice

Valid from 20:00 on Sun, 22nd Jan 2012 until 10:00 on Mon, 23rd Jan 2012

A mixture of clear spells and wintry showers through Sunday evening and overnight into Monday morning is expected to lead to icy stretches on untreated roads and pavements. Above 300m elevation, accumulations of 2 to 6cm of snow are possible with temporary slushy deposits to lower levels.

The public should be aware of the possibility of hazardous surfaces developing as a result.
